Business Manager's Report

Have you had enough of the snow and cold? Yes, I as well. This Spring is shaping up to be very strong for work especially in the Green Bay area. Miron Construction is building a brand new paper machine for Green Bay Packaging. The buildings alone are 1/2 million square feet. It is the largest capital project in Brown County with a completion date of December 2020/January 2021. The Brown County Arena's days are numbered. It will be coming down and a new arena will be going up. I don't have specific dates as of yet. Then there is the on-going work at Lambeau Field and a new Green Bay Visitor's Center. Not to mention school work, some hospital work and that is just a glimpse of work coming in Green Bay.

There has been a lot of discussion in pre-jobs of late about having OSHA 30 training to be on the projects. If you have taken the training great. If you have NOT, please take the class, it could save your life or prevent an injury and it could be the difference between working or unemployed. If you are not taking advantage of training and are having trouble getting employed, you are losing out. There are work opportunities out there if you have certifications or skills.

This is a contract year for the Laborers at Spancrete. The current contract is set to expire at the end of May 2019. We have had a listening session on February 26th and have gathered info from the Laborers. We will be putting a Bargaining Committee together.

The new addition to the Training Center is complete! The additional class rooms were badly needed. There will be a dedication sometime this Spring.

Thanks for reading.

Sincerely, Jony Marcelle
